Learn about changes to voting process June 19

The Orange County Registrar of Voters will hold a community workshop in Leisure World to explain recent changes in voting procedures.

It will be held from 10 a.m.-noon on Wednesday, June 19, in Clubhouse 2.

Orange County is transitioning from the traditional polling place model to the vote center model in 2020, and it will involve significant changes to the voting and elections process.

In the vote center model, all registered voters will receive a vote-by-mail ballot. Voters who prefer to vote in person will be able to vote at any vote center that's open up to 10 days before election day. More information can be found at ocvote.com/votecenter.

The Registrar of Voters is planning extensive efforts to educate and outreach to the public on the changes to voting and elections, including community workshops, which will provide opportunity for community feedback into its vote center planning.

Happy Father's Day 2019

The best fathers are steadfast examples of what it means to love someone, a mixture of tough and gentle, with wisdom leavened by common sense. A father's love is precious and singular, and expressed in many ways. In honor of Father's Day on June 16, here is a compilation of Leisure World residents' recollections of the greatest gifts their dads ever bestowed on them.

Edward Larry Beggs, Mutual 7

Larry was 9 years old when his dad, Edward Latchford Beggs, a U.S. Navy service man, was killed in the Pacific Theater of WWII.

In a letter dated Dec. 24, 1941—written about a month before he died—Beggs included a postscript to his son: "Give Larry my love and tell him daddy said hello. Today is Xmas, and I hope all of you have a merry Xmas and a happy new year. We in the Navy have a great job ahead of us, may God give us strength and courage to carry through.

"The Japs may have won the first round by their surprise and foul tactics, but victory will be ours in the final round. It is going to be a hard struggle, but we Americans can whip the hell out of them, so let's get going.

"Some of us won't be around to celebrate when it's over. Darling if I am not around, I want you to celebrate for me. Just remember that life lies ahead of you and our son, live it with courage, and do not dwell in the ashes of the past. With love, Eddie."

Larry Beggs has taken his dad's last words to heart, carefully preserving the letter containing them, written aboard the USS Marblehead on its way to the Battle of Makassar Strait, for 77 years.

My Father's Greatest Gift

Irving Baidack taught his daughter Lynn about the importance of family, music and mentoring.

Kaye Huff, Mutual 7

The greatest gift my dad, Tom Mitchell, gave me was his unconditional love and esteem, thinking this shy little girl, and her two sisters, were talented, beautiful kids. He migrated from Canada with a seventh-grade education and no skills during the Depression. Despite challenging financial times, he was always there for me.

Galit Levy-Slater, Mutual 4

The night before he died, when I arrived at the hospital in Abilene, Kansas, the last thing my dad, Aubrey Wesley Popejoy (aka Dave Knight) said was, "She'll be good."

I inherited so much from my daddy, my brown eyes, my sense of humor, my love of music—every kind of music—my love of nature, animals, so very much. But his greatest gift? That's easy—it was his belief that there is no limit on what I could achieve in my life.

Daddy wasn't perfect. No one is.

My mother was his third wife, and I was his only child. People assume that only children are spoiled. That's not necessarily true, but I was given every opportunity that Hollywood had to offer to hone my talents in voice, acting and dance.

Daddy died before I began my journey to become a cantor and now a rabbi, but I know he would be proud of my mission to serve God.

And I think he might say, "She'll be good."

DADS, page 12

Sandra Hunt Nelson's dad, Maynard A. Banta, gave a memorable speech at her wedding to Eric Nelson.

Edward Beggs left his son, Larry, the gift of a letter, written a month before he died in the Pacific Theater of WWII.

JUNE 20 WORKSHOP

Qualified LWers can apply for free bathroom upgrade

Leisure World residents who have trouble stepping into the shower for any reason could be eligible for a free bathroom upgrade.

Applications are now being accepted for the Leisure World Bathroom Accessibility Grant, which converts tub/shower combinations to showers-only for safer access. The tubs are refinished to look like new, and a new glass shower door enclosure is installed. Toilets can be replaced with a high-boy model.

"Many residents are apprehensive to send sensitive data through the mail or get confused on the application process," says Monique Eliason, program administrator. "Others don't realize you can have substantial savings and still qualify for the free upgrade. Consequently, we're holding a workshop to help residents with this process."

To qualify, applicants must be over 55 years of age and have an annual income below: One person, $66,500; two people, $76,000; and three people, $85,500.

The workshop will be held Thursday, June 20, from 1:30-5:30 p.m. at Clubhouse 2. Applications will be available on site, if you don't already have one. Bring documents to substantiate your annual income (bank statements, saving statements, and tax returns if you file them). For more information, call CivicStone, the City of Seal Beach's designated program administrator, at (909) 364-9000.

Luncheon and cards are by reservation only. Those who are not Woman's Club members may attend one time as a guest. Regularly attending card players who are current Woman's Club members have standing reservations. Club members who do not play regularly must make reservations. Individual tickets are $12; a table of four is $48 and should be purchased by one person. As always, the opportunity tickets are three tickets for $1.

BENEFITS CHANGE

Find out if you are eligible June 28

Changes in a 1974 state law now allow California recipients of Supplemental Security Income, or SSI, to also get CalFresh food benefits.

The new law went into effect on June 1.

The California Department of Social Services estimates at least 500,000 recipients of SSI will become newly eligible for CalFresh next month. The majority of those people are adults 60 and older.

To help Leisure World residents navigate this change, the Community Action Partnership (CAP) will be in Clubhouse 3, Room 3, on June 28 from 9 a.m.-noon.

CAP staff will assist LWers who are interested in applying.

Residents may call Cynthia Tostado, GRF member resources and assistance liaison, at 431-6586, ext. 317, for more information.

State officials and advocates who work with senior citizens say the expansion of CalFresh benefits will become a crucial safety net for people in the fastest growing segment of California's population, according to a report in the Press-Telegram.

National estimates suggest up to half of all older Americans are vulnerable to malnutrition. Many face the choice of buying food or paying other bills, such as rent, healthcare and utilities, each month.

The new CalFresh benefits could average up to $130 a month, an amount that could be life changing for older adults on SSI.

Supplemental Security Income is a monthly cash grant to qualified low-income individuals.

While it is administered by the Social Security Administration, it is separate from the income of Social Security that is based on wages earned prior to retirement.

In addition to senior citizens, SSI also provides support to people who are blind and to adults and children with disabilities who have little to no income and few other resources.

Online sign-ups have already started.

Leisure World residents can also take advantage of face-to-face outreach as experts will be in Clubhouse 3 June 28 to help people fill out the paperwork.

According to news reports, California was the only state in the nation left with a so-called "cash-out" policy.

The policy barred people who get SSI income from also being eligible for the federal government's Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program, once known as SNAP and now known in California as CalFresh.

In California, about 1.3 million residents are currently enrolled in SSI.

Orange County has 36,000 potential SSI recipients.

On average, current CalFresh recipients get between $110-$130 a month on their "Golden State Advantage" debit cards to purchase groceries at stores or farmers markets.

In 10 counties around the state, the electronic benefit transfer cards also can be used to buy prepared meals at some food establishments, including those in Los Angeles, Orange and Riverside counties, among others.

Depending on size of household, income and expenses, the CalFresh benefit for the new SSI participants will range from $15-$192 per month.

With few exceptions, SSI recipients must apply for the CalFresh food assistance.

For those who fear a loss in their SSI income if they start getting CalFresh benefits, the California Department of Social Services issued a reassurance earlier this month.

A May 3 news release quoted the department's Acting Director Pat Leary: "It's very important to know: Applying for CalFresh will not change your SSI eligibility or benefit amount in any way."

The growing prevalence of food insecurity—lack of access to a sufficient amount of affordable and nutritious food—worries people who work with senior citizens.

It's especially alarming in a place like Orange County, where people 65 and older represent the only growing segment of the county's population.

How to Apply

SSI recipients can sign up for CalFresh benefits in the following four ways.

- Online: Go to GetCalFresh.org.
- By phone: Call (877) 847-3663 for help available in English, Spanish, Vietnamese, Korean, Cantonese, and Russian.
- Walk in: Visit a local CalFresh office. Locations can be found on an interactive map at CalFreshFood.org.
- Attend the workshop in Clubhouse 3 on June 28.

GRF SURVEYS

Restaurant survey is in today's paper

The Golden Rain Foundation is seeking resident input on three areas of community improvement—the possible addition of a restaurant and bar, expanded fitness facility and the creation of a learning center. Three separate surveys will be distributed to every household over the next few weeks.

Look for the first survey on the addition of a restaurant/bar as an insert in today's paper. The deadline to return surveys is July 12. Surveys without a name, and Mutual and unit numbers will not be considered.

Don't miss this opportunity to have your opinion counted on whether a restaurant/bar would be a welcome addition to Leisure World and if it would, what type and where.

"It is very important that the (GRF) Board of Directors collect feedback from the community so that it can continually improve the quality of life in Leisure World," said GRF President Linda Stone. "We want to know what amenities our residents enjoy, and possibly those they don't."

The Fitness survey will arrive June 20 with a return deadline, July 19; and the learning center survey will be delivered on June 27, return deadline, July 26.

Surveys may be dropped off at the off-white mailboxes located throughout the community, at the Recreation Office in Building 5, the LW Library or the Administration building.

For more information, email kathyt@lwsb.com.

Mission Park Courts

The multipurpose courts at Mission Park will be closed the first Wednesday of every month after 3 p.m. for power washing. The Recreation Department thanks players for their cooperation and regrets any inconvenience.

Data breaches expose millions who had blood tests to possibility of fraud

by Cathie Merz
cathiem_news@lwsb.com

Quest Diagnostics, one of the biggest blood testing providers in the country, and LabCorp, another blood testing provider said customer information may have been compromised due to a data breach by a third party provider, American Medical Collection Agency(AMCA).

The Quest breach affects nearly 12 million customers between Aug. 1, 2018-March 30, 2019, while 77.7 million LabCorp customers' records were potentially compromised during the same period of time.

The information on AMCA's affected system included credit card numbers and bank account information, medical information and other personal information, e.g., Social Security Numbers, according to the Quest filing. Laboratory test results were not among in the stolen data, Quest said. According to a Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) filing data stored in the AMCA system from LabCorp includes consumers' credit card and bank account information, as well as first and last name, date of birth, address, phone, date of service, provider and balance information.

The breach "comes as no surprise, as health care records command higher prices on the black market than most types of personal identifiable information," said Darren Hayes, an assistant professor at Pace University's Seidenberg School of Computer Science and Information Systems. "The breadth of information available from health care companies is far greater than most breaches. In the case of Quest Diagnostics, we can see that personal financial data and medical records appear to have been compromised."

Anyone affected by the breach should consider adding a fraud alert to the credit reporting agencies, and a credit freeze will provide additional protection to consumers.

In the past few years, dozens of companies, including Target, Home Depot, Neiman Marcus, Michael's Stores, LinkedIn, Starwood Hotels, Ticketmaster, British Airways, consumer electronics giant Newegg and health insurer Anthem have suffered data breaches that compromised tens of millions of accounts and payment-card numbers. In 2016, Yahoo disclosed two record data breaches in which 500 million and 3 billion accounts were compromised, respectively.

The so-called Magecart group of hackers breaks into vulnerable websites and installs malicious code to skim and send data back to hacker-controlled servers.

It is not a bad idea to type "data breach" into Google News once a day to see who the latest victim has been. Then if you shopped at that store or restaurant, you know to be extra vigilant about your credit card activity.

There are some simple steps to take to minimize chances of becoming the victim of identity theft or credit-card fraud if personal information has been compromised.

The first step is to determine what was stolen. Sensitive information falls into three general categories, least sensitive, more sensitive and most sensitive.

Least sensitive information includes names and street addresses. Such information is pretty harmless since is usually easily accessible.

More sensitive information includes email addresses, dates of birth and debit and credit card account numbers.

A stolen email address may result in increased spam; a stolen credit card will often result in fraudulent charges, but the card holder is generally protected from liability. A date of birth by itself is useless, but when combined with a name, it's more valuable than an address, because it never changes and is often used to verify identity.

The most sensitive information includes Social Security numbers, online-account passwords, passport numbers, financial-account numbers and payment-card security codes, the three- or four-digit number printed on the front or back of payment cards.

An online-account password, combined with an email address, can be used to hijack online accounts. A card security code lets a thief use a stolen card number for online and telephone shopping. A bank account number lets snoops track financial history and even move money into an account.

The company that suffered the breach may say that even though email passwords or credit-card numbers were stolen, those items were encrypted and hence "safe." Don't take their word for it — hackers and cybercriminals can "crack" many forms of encryption. If a password was less than 10 characters long or uses words that can be found in the dictionary, consider it stolen.

If an online account has been compromised, change the password on that account right away. If you used the same password for any other accounts, change those as well, and make up a new, strong password for each and every account. Don't reuse the password for a second account. That way, you'll be limiting the damage next time there's a data breach, and you won't have to go through this process again.

If the online company offers two-factor authentication to protect an account, use it. With two-factor authentication, a thief who attempts to log into an online account can't get in, even with the right

June 18, 2009 - A story warned residents that compact fluorescent lamps (CFLs) with plastic bases posed a fire hazard. Purchasing was selling CFLs with ceramic bases. An oil change including five quarts of oil and filter plus tire rotation was $19.85. A Mutual 2, 1-bedroom unit was listed at $74,000.

SAFETY COLUMN

Pedestrians, drivers share responsibility

by Eloy Gomez
GRF safety/emergency coordinator

Reports of pedestrians jaywalking within feet from a crosswalk, pedestrians crossing the intersection against a red light and drivers not stopping for pedestrians on crosswalks are becoming a common occurrence in Leisure World.

Is this due to a lack of patience? Are you in such a rush that you would risk your personal safety and safety of others? Have you lost respect for the right-of-way of others or it simply that you have forgotten that both pedestrians and drivers have responsibilities? Let's be reminded of the responsibilities that apply to pedestrians and vehicle drivers.

Generally, pedestrians have the right of way within both marked and unmarked crosswalks. In fact, California Vehicle Code §21950 states, "The driver of a vehicle shall yield the right-of-way to a pedestrian crossing the roadway within any marked or unmarked crosswalk at an intersection. The driver of a vehicle approaching a pedestrian within any marked or unmarked crosswalk shall exercise all due care and shall reduce the speed of the vehicle or take any other action relating to the operation of the vehicle as necessary to safeguard the safety of the pedestrian."

Drivers are required to be extra cautious when a pedestrian is present or is likely to be present. But pedestrians are not faultless in all situations. In fact, a pedestrian might even be liable for a driver's damages after a car-pedestrian accident, depending on the circumstances. California Vehicle Code §21950 (b), states, "No pedestrian may suddenly leave a curb or other place of safety and walk or run into the path of a vehicle that is so close as to constitute an immediate hazard, this includes crossing the street on a red light. Pedestrians need to remember to cross safely and do not impede traffic."

Safety tips for drivers

- Be cautious when pedestrians cross. Whenever you see pedestrians attempting to cross a street, regardless if they are at an intersection or in a marked crosswalk, you should slow to a stop. It doesn't matter if there isn't a traffic light or stop sign, exercise caution instead of taking a chance.

- Come to a complete stop at crosswalks. When you approach a crosswalk, marked or unmarked, come to a complete stop every time. Do not slow roll through any crosswalk, it presents an unnecessary

SECURITY CORNER

May Security Report

by Victor Rocha security services director

I wanted to share the monthly recap of incidents that involved the Security Department during the month of May, 2019:

Fires – 6

The majority of our small fires were due to unattended pots catching fire on a stove. Please ensure all burners are off after use.

Burglaries – 0

There were no illegal entries (sometimes referred to as ‘breaking and entering’) that occurred in the community.

Thefts – 11

There has been an increase in petty thefts inside the community. Some of these thefts have been “crimes of opportunity” where a vehicle or residence door was left unlocked and items were taken. We are currently assisting the Seal Beach Police Department on active cases.

Vandalism – 0

Traffic Incidents – 5

All traffic incidents in May were minor and due to “depth perception” issues, such as vehicles striking another vehicle from the rear at a stop sign, vehicles colliding with objects while backing up out of the carport, etc.

Miscellaneous Issues - 52

The Security Department handled a wide variety of miscellaneous calls for service, the majority being noise complaints, such as barking dogs and loud neighbors. Please be courteous and monitor the volume of your TV and radio, along with limiting loud noises during the hours of darkness.

Rep. Rouda visits with members at meeting

The Seal Beach Leisure World Democratic Club members and supporters were honored with a visit from 48th Congressional District Rep. Harley Rouda during the May 29 monthly meeting.

His report, while highlighting a number of accomplishments achieved during his first few months in Washington, also included lamenting that Congressional members have to start fund raising and campaigning almost the day they are elected because of their two-year terms.

As Rep. Joe Kennedy, III, reminded viewers a few weeks ago in Orange County, “we are heading into an election year that is unlike most others in history.” Kennedy cautioned that the time to protect hard-fought victories in the county and across the country is now, before time and resources are shifted toward the 2020 Presidential run. Congressman Rouda echoed that theme, saying his campaign for reelection is well underway and that he has already become the target of partisan super PACs and dark money donors. In response, the club committed to help by reporting on his accomplishments and raising his name recognition here in Leisure World.

A presentation by club member Mariann Klinger followed. She led a lively discussion on the history and current status of attempts to enact the Equal Right Amendment. The ERA was passed in 1972, but it failed to earn the backing of enough state legislatures to be ratified by a 1982 deadline. Advocates want to strip this time limit requirement from the language. Congress recently held its first hearing on the amendment in 36 years.

Klinger’s program was timely, in that the Women’s Health Protection Act (WHPA) was reintroduced on May 23 in the 116th Congress by lead sponsors Rep. Judy Chu of California and Sen. Richard Blumenthal of Connecticut. The Act secures equality, autonomy and dignity for all people, reaffirming that pregnant people can have a safe and accessible abortion wherever they live.

LW Democratic Club president Mary Tromp attended the California Democratic Party’s State Convention May 31-June 2 in San Francisco. Los Angeles labor leader Rusty Hicks was elected president of the State Party. Members of the Convention also passed a number of resolutions, including one that supported continuation of a statewide moratorium on new charter schools until California conducts a study examining how charters have affected public school districts, including their financial health.

Tromp will join a panel of

speakers covering other happenings at the Convention during the club’s June 25 monthly Voter

By REQUEST of Mutual Six shareholder Lynn Baidack, the reading of the minutes of the Annual Meeting held on June 13, 2017, was dispensed with, and the minutes were approved and ordered to be filed in the corporate records as heretofore published. President Stone then introduced the newly-elected director of the Board: Marsha Gerber, Mutual Four.

REPORTS

In accordance with Article V, Section 2, of the GRF By-Laws, the Annual Meeting of members is the time and place for receiving reports from chairpersons. President Stone offered the opportunity for the committee chairs to offer comments, regarding their Committees. The Chairs thanked the members of their committees and staff members individually.

BOARD MEMBER’S COMMENTS

The Board member Ronde Winkler echoed the sentiments expressed in the Chair reports, adding recognition of the Policy Re-write Sub-committee.

PRESIDENT’S COMMENTS

Members of the Board, members of the GRF and shareholders: the President’s report was also included in the Annual Report. However, I wish to add that I am proud to have been given the opportunity to serve as President of the Golden Rain Foundation for 2017-2018. Over the years I have been involved with and on the board of many community organizations, but I can honestly say none have been more rewarding than my time with the Foundation. It has been a delight to work with my fellow board members...we have laughed, listened, debated, played and shared many wonderful moments throughout this past year.

The Golden Rain Foundation began the year with three new directors: Wayne Gould (Mutual 5), Tony Dodero (Mutual 9) and Patrick Anderson (Mutual 15). In July 2017, Mary Ruth Greer (Mutual 11) and Patrick Anderson (Mutual 15), due to unforeseen circumstances, had to leave the Board, but were ably replaced by Irma Heinrichs (Mutual 11) and Bob Crossley (Mutual 15).

We have three Directors that will be retiring in June:

Carole Damoci (Mutual 12) has been on the Board since 2012. She served as Deputy Secretary 2012-2013, Vice President 2013-2014, 2014-2015, 2017-2018 and as President 2016-2017. She has been Chair of the Executive Committee for three terms and the Library Committee during the 2012-2013 term.

Among the Vice Chair-ships Mrs. Damoci has been chosen for were the Executive, Finance, Physical Property and Recreation Committees. She somehow found time to serve as a member on the Facilities and Amenities Review Ad Hoc, Finance, ITS, Physical Property, Management Services Review Ad Hoc, Recreation, Security, Bus and Traffic, Strategic Planning Ad Hoc and the Los Alamitos Medical Center Advisory Board for three terms. Additionally, Carole led the Policy Re-Write Sub-Committee to Re-write most of the GRF policies, bringing them into the 21st century. Committed to enhancing the community’s lifestyle, she led the Entertainment Sub-committee for the past four years, choosing the summer amphitheater shows. Notably, Carole initiated and organized the long overdue new Leisure ID Card exchange program, leading to the issuance of over 9,300 ID cards. Her hard work, dedication and vast knowledge will be sorely missed. Carole has been a leader and instigator of many of our projects and programs. Thank you, Carole for all that you have done for the Foundation.

Joy Reed (Mutual 4) has stood on the Board since 2014. She has served as Corporate Secretary for three terms: 2015-2016, 2016-2017, and 2017-2018. Joy has chaired the Architectural, Design & Review committee, served on Communications committee, Community Access Ad Hoc, Facilities & Amenities, ITS, Mutual Administration and Recreation Committee’s.

Joy brought a new level of distinction to the position of Corporate Secretary. She was the guiding light of the Bereavement Book and the Code of Ethics and will be missed by all. Thank you, Joy for your service.

Steve McGuigan (Mutual 8) has served and served well since 2014. He has chaired the Security, Bus & Traffic Committee in 2014-2015, 2015-2016 and 2017-2018, as well as Vice-Chair during the 2016-2017 term. Additionally, he served as a member of the Architectural Design & Review, Committee Charter Ad Hoc, Communications, Community Access Ad Hoc, Finance, ITS, Management Services Ad Hoc, Physical Properties, Recreation, RV Lot Ad Hoc, and Strategic Planning Ad Hoc committees. Steve has been a catalyst for many thought provoking debates and a very valuable board member as well as our longest winded member! Thank you, Steve.

To the retiring Directors, the Golden Rain Foundation Board of Directors along with our shareholders and members, thank you for your service to our community as we wish you all good health, joy and happiness in the next adventure in your retirement.

As you read the annual report you will easily note the number of projects and programs that have been accomplished this past year. Well, it takes a village to get this done. I can’t say enough about the team of GRF board members. Collectively they have done the time and work necessary...and they volunteer their time!

I want to thank:

The 2017-2018 GRF Board of Directors for their commitment to the Foundation and for all their hard work and the many hours needed to ensure a successful year. There isn’t enough room to itemize the individual accomplishments of each director, it would take many, many pages. But know that each and every one of the Directors have been instrumental in the success of the whole. I have been honored this year to work with this respected group.

The committees and their respective chairs that put in a lot of heart and soul, time and effort towards achieving our ambitious goals. And the 10,000 members for their support in attending the committee meetings, special meetings, Town Halls and the monthly GRF Board meetings. Special thanks to the fabulous staff led by Executive Director Randy Ankeny that always goes above and beyond the norm...they are the backbone of the Foundation and are appreciated beyond measure. I couldn’t have done this job without Deanna Bennett and Corina Mancilla always keeping me informed, on time and on target. Once again, thank you for the opportunity to function as a leader of the Golden Rain Foundation. It has been an honor.

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR’S COMMENTS

The Executive Director thanked the Board and staff for another excellent year.

INSTALLATION OF NEWLY-ELECTED DIRECTORS

President Stone announced that Ms. Gerber was officially installed as Director of the Golden Rain Foundation.

GOP Club endorses positions for upcoming election

by Brian Harmon
LW contributor

In a special meeting of the Executive Committee, the Leisure World Republican Club voted on June 7, to endorse 11 official policy positions. These positions will be promoted on signs and flyers. Positions winning unanimous approval include, maintaining and moving back to a Constitutional Republic, Proposition 13, capitalism, small government, secured borders, legal immigration, a strong military, voter ID, tax reform/balanced budget, the Bill of Rights (including first and second amendments), God/Bible and voter ID.

The Pro-Life position received some opposition, but passed easily, with the understanding that it meant supporting laws that protect the unborn without specifying whether that meant after three months, six weeks or at conception, and what exceptions should be allowed.

Although everyone present supported Proposition 13, some wondered whether the list should include issues that deal only with California.

The rest of the meeting was dedicated to determining what strategies would be most effective in the 2020 elections.

Among the options considered were voter registration, precinct walking versus calling, mailings, more candidate and guest visits with follow-up articles and TV interviews, political rallies, and vote harvesting. The most effective strategies in the past have been a voter registration table and calling voters.

A guest visit with a follow-up article and TV interview is being tried this month with the recent visit of California Republican Central Committee delegate Amy Phan West, a candidate for Westminster City Council. The visit password, unless he has a numeric code that the company texts to the legitimate user's cellphone.

If creating and remembering all those new passwords is difficult, use a password manager to handle it all for you. With a password manager, you'll need to remember only one password; the software will take care of the rest. The downside is that if the "master password" is compromised, all your accounts will be as well.

Check credit card statements regularly. Open statements or log-in to your account online and review all the charges. If you notice fraudulent activity, contact your card issuer immediately, and they will reverse the charges and likely issue you a new card.

Set up text or email alerts for your card. Then, every time a charge is made, you will immediately receive a text or email. You will know right away whether a charge is fraudulent.

If a payment-card number has been stolen, contact the bank or organization that issued the card immediately. Most credit cards have toll-free customer-service numbers printed on the back. Make sure to speak to a live human representative. Explain that the account is at risk of fraud, and ask the card issuer to alert you if it detects suspicious activity on your account. The bank will almost certainly cancel the card and issue you a new one straight away.

If fraud does take place before the bank is notified, the rules differ between credit cards and debit cards.

Professional credit-card thieves often try to "bust out" stolen card numbers with many purchases in a matter of hours, often on weekends when banks are not fully staffed, before the banks can cut off the card. Nevertheless, in the United States, federal rules limit the customer's liability for fraud. If you alert the banks or card issuers before any fraudulent transactions take place, you're covered.

But if fraud does take place before the bank is notified, the rules differ between credit cards and debit cards. For credit cards, the customer can report a card stolen or lost at any time, yet will be on the hook for at most $50 of fraudulent charges. For fraudulent charges on a monthly billing statement, the customer has up to 60 days to dispute the charges, in writing.

Debit cards have much less protection if fraudulent charges are rung up before the bank is notified. To get the $50 limited liability, the customer has only two business days after learning of the fraud to tell the bank. After that, you may be liable for up to $500; if more than 60 days go by and you still haven't told the bank, you could be on the hook for the whole thing.

Possibly the worst piece of personal information to have stolen is your Social Security number. With that and your name, almost anyone can pose as you. A fake passport using your real name, place of birth and photo is almost as bad. Unfortunately, it's very difficult to replace an old Social Security number with a new one.

Consider a fraud alert. Contact one of the three major credit reporting agencies, Equifax, Experian or TransUnion, and place a fraud alert. This way, if anyone tries to steal your financial identity, by trying to open a credit-card account in your name you'll know. You'll also be alerted when anyone tries to look up your credit.

Fraud alert is free and lasts for 90 days but can be renewed. Request a credit alert online or call the bureau directly, Equifax (888) 766-0008; Experian (888) 397-3742; and TransUnion (800) 680-7289. Each bureau is required to contact the others if an individual requests a fraud alert, and consumers need not provide any reason. This makes it harder for an identity thief to open an account in your name. When you have a fraud alert, a business is supposed to verify your identity before it issues credit, so it may contact you.

A credit freeze is more drastic and won't allow anyone you don't have an account with to run a credit report on you, or open an account in your name, without your explicit authorization. But it may cause unforeseen complications when applying for new credit cards or a mortgage, or even switch cellular carriers or cable-TV companies. Each agency will give you a PIN with which you can temporarily unlock your file in such instances.

Many large companies that suffer data breaches provide affected customers with one or two years of free identity protection. Take advantage of the offer, but read the fine print for what kind of protection you'll get. A service that doesn't monitor financial accounts won't be of much help if your credit-card number, but not your personal information, was stolen.

These step should be taken to prevent your identity from being stolen, however is if identity fraud does occur you will need to file a report with the local police department as soon as possible. That may seem useless, but it's extremely important, as it will establish a legal basis with which you can dispute any future fraud.

Next, file a formal report of identity theft with the federal government online with the Federal Trade Commission. Like the police report, the government report will be essential in disputing and resolving future fraud.

In the worst cases, clearing your name can take years. Make sure to document each phone call made, and each email message and letter sent, during your efforts.

risk of hitting a pedestrian.

- Always attempt to make direct eye contact. If you do see a pedestrian attempting to walk through a crosswalk, try to make eye contact, acknowledging you see him or her so they are alerted to your presence.

- Give pedestrians plenty of time to walk across. When a pedestrian, particularly elderly, disabled and young children are crossing the street, be sure to give them plenty of time to completely cross the street. Don't roll into the crosswalk until they are fully across.

- Don't pass vehicles stopped or braking for a pedestrian. If you see one or more vehicles stopped or coming to a stop whether or not at an intersection and/or crosswalk, slow to a stop and do not attempt to go around them.

- Report incidents to Security. Have LW Security's phone number on speed dial to reports jaywalkers, pedestrian or vehicle red light violators. Be ready to provide as much detail as possible.

- Be patient. With people with disabilities, remember that you might be in their shoes a few days, weeks, months or years down the road.

Pedestrians safety tips

- Be cautious when crossing in a crosswalk. Always be alert, look left, right and left again before you begin to cross the street. Don't think every driver will respect your right-of-way just because you are in the crosswalk.

- Avoid distractions while crossing a street. Put your cell phone down and avoid any other distraction that may keep you from making eye contact with drivers.

- Don't take shortcuts. Cross streets using crosswalks when possible and use the safety crosswalk flags for increased visibility where available and never, ever jaywalk cross streets with center median like St. Andrews Drive. The curb and soft mulch cover are difficult to walk on.

- Be patient. Cross lighted intersection on a green light, if the amber hand/body signal is flashing or the 20 second countdown (in LW) has begun, wait for the next green light cycle. Do not take any chances and do not try to make it to the center island over the canal on St. Andrews, drivers do not need more distraction or might even react improperly when they see you there.

- Report incidents to Security. Have LW Security's phone number on speed dial to reports jaywalkers, pedestrian or vehicle red light violators. Be ready to provide as much detail as possible.

Remember all emergencies should be reported to 9-1-1 immediately. Be ready to provide location, cross streets or address for quick response.

Wa-Rite Club

The Wa-Rite Club meets on Fridays in Clubhouse 3, Room 1, from 9-10 a.m.

Last week, the three top losers, each with a three-pound loss were Swana White, Tanya Moffat and Melinda Lee.

The shock of gaining four pounds last week propelled Swana to work on getting her body under control this week.

Tanya stuck to the Wa-Rite philosophy of eating healthy food. She loves vegetables, eats lean meats such as fish and chicken. She satisfies her salty cravings with a few nuts and her sweet tooth, with fruit. She walks about 2-1/2 miles a few days a week.

Melinda is a busy gal, who tends to forget to eat meals sometimes and she lives upstairs, which helps her get exercise.

The Food for Thought this Week: Science has proven that sleep deprivation can adversely affect your appetite.

It was Share Week, so members offered helpful tips, including the accountability a support group provides, how to say “no thanks” when a host piles on food; healthy snacks such as cherry tomatoes and meal prep to avoid high calorie, on-the-run eating.

Wa-Rite is a support group of women who need to lose 10 pounds or more.

Weigh-ins are from 7:45-8:45 a.m. Annual dues are $10. To join or visit a meeting, call or text Diana Goins at 760-1293. You must be a LW Resident to join so bring GRF ID.

Did You Know?

Many studies have shown that walking and other exercise helps protect aging brains.

Now a new study finds that slow walking speed may be a sign of early Alzheimer’s disease.

Researchers in France studied 128 people in their 70s who did not have dementia but were considered high risk because they had concerns about their memories.

The scientists measured the walking speed of study subjects by timing how fast they could walk 13 feet at a normal pace. Those who had the highest level of plaque in their brains walked about 10 percent slower, according to results published in the journal “Neurology.” The results held even when adjusted for other factors, such as age and education.

- Stay out of the sun if possible. Don’t go out until the sun starts to set or until early the next morning.
- Spend as much time as possible in air-conditioned spaces.
- Stay hydrated. Drink plenty of cool water, clear juices, and other liquids that don’t contain alcohol or caffeine, which can dehydrate you.

Beverly Emus, Mutual 16

I am forever grateful to my father, Maurice Edward Stein, for being the kind, loving supportive member in my otherwise tempestuous, sometimes unkind, family. When I was six or seven, I was very shy and unhappy. One day he asked me if I would like a puppy that would belong to me alone, and of course I said yes. He understood I needed another reliable source of affection. He and I drove around to several dog breeders, and I picked out my first dog, which made a wonderful difference in my life. Thank you for being there for me and a toast to you, Dad!

Sandra Hunt Nelson, Mutual 2

My dad, Maynard A. Banta, gave the most wonderful speech at the wedding reception for myself and my new husband, Eric, three years ago. My dad was 89 at the time and turned 90 the next month. It was the last month he lived, and I think he was holding out for the chance to give that speech!

Dorothy Ferrington, Mutual 1

My dad, Jack Sylvester Geiger, retired from a Southern California job, and returned to Northern California, where I was born and raised. He would spend the last years of his life doing what he loved to do, being in the great outdoors and fishing in the Sierra Nevada mountains. When summer vacations would arrive, my sons (then 8 and 10) would get on a plane to Sacramento, where they would be met by their grandpa. Those summer vacations were magical for the boys, as my dad introduced them to all things possible in the outdoors of the High Sierras, fishing the mountain streams in particular. Last Wednesday, my son, Robert, arrived at LAX, picked me up from Leisure World and we headed to Northern California for our annual fly fishing trip. My son introduced me to fly fishing in 2014. The gift I received from my dad all these years later came through my son, who shares with me his love for fishing that he learned from his grandpa, my dad.

Joan Shramek, Mutual 12

My father, Elmer Carl Lembke, was born in Albert Lea, Minnesota, in 1904. He, three brothers and their father owned and operated a butcher shop, where he got the nickname “Butch.” Our son is called Butch Shramek in honor of my dad.

I was always my father’s “Joanie Girl.” He was short in stature, five feet, four inches tall, with a heart as big as his smile. He was taken from us when I was 17, but did live to see Frank and I marry, much to his delight. I know I shall see him again in heaven as he was a fine Christian father and example for me.

Jojo Weingart, Mutual 12

I was raised in Hong Kong. At 15, my parents sent me away to finish high school in Canada. It was a difficult decision since I was their only child. Before I went on my journey, my father told me getting B grades would suffice as long as I learned to type, drive and operate a washing machine. Boy, did those skills come in handy. Thank you, dad, for setting the bar so low. My father was easy-going and undemanding. I love him for that.

Margie MacDonald Thompson, Mutual 11

As a young boy, Allen MacDonald, my father, was sent to an orphan farm as his father abandoned the family. When he boarded a train with other kids heading for the farms in Wisconsin and the Dakotas, he only had his wits and courage to get him by.

A kind, hard-working family chose him. I imagine that on the farm he learned hard work, responsibility and compassion because those are characteristics he held his whole life.

As a young man, he sought opportunity and wasn’t afraid to go where it took him. It led him to train hopping, looking for adventure and jobs. Opportunity took him to dizzying heights when he worked as a steel worker.

He worked hard and found time to play hard. He played catch endlessly with his three sons and hauled his daughter and friends to the mountains and beaches. Mostly he loved to dance with my mother on a dance floor or an ice rink.

He joined the Navy and served in San Diego during WWII.

We left Peoria, Illinois, and moved to sunny Long Beach so my dad could better provide for his four kids and wife.

In 1955, he opened Mac’s Life Gate, supplying truck lifts for gardeners, appliances and even wheelchairs.

As a small business owner, dad made it clear that ethics, respect for the customer and sacrifice for those in need were more important than making money.

Today the business thrives both economically and ethically. My dad moved into Leisure World in 1979.

Tragically his wife and our mother unexpectedly died that night.

Leisure World became his new home where he loved golf and dancing and once got a citation from Security for roller blading on St. Andrews Drive.

I remember dad with gratitude for his good example of loving God, his country and valuing family and friends.

Sue Kaminsky, Mutual 12

Growing up, I didn’t really know my father, Lonnie Franklin Smith.

He and my mother were divorced when I was six months old and being a kind of wanderer, he didn’t come around very much. I remember on one of those rare occasions when he did visit, he spoke of his Army days in WWII and although he said very little, I caught a glimpse of the sadness and suffering he’d gone through, along with so many who have sacrificed so much to keep us the “land of the free and the home of the brave.”

My father shared about D-Day and losing his best friend on the beach at Normandy, and I saw my father cry.

I was a very little girl at the time, but from that moment on, I knew my father was a hero and truly part of, as it is rightly called today, the “Greatest Generation.”

Despite the difficulties he experienced in the war, which I now realize he really never fully recovered from, my father had the most wonderful joyful spirit!

He was a gifted musician and I remember once when he visited, he played his guitar and made up songs and sang them to me and I laughed and laughed till my tummy hurt!

His laugh was infectious and although our times together were very few, it’s his laugh that I remember most and the memory of it touches my heart to this day.

Many years after his death, I was sent some papers of his and in them I found a poem he had written.

I had, by this time, come to faith in Jesus Christ. My father’s poem spoke of the love and forgiveness that was in Christ, that he felt so completely undeserving of, but nevertheless believed and received because God’s Word, the Bible, proclaimed it. That poem turned out to be the greatest gift my father ever gave me, the knowledge that one day we would be together again and in that eternal life, as promised, there will be no more pain and no more sorrow—and no more parting.

Lynn Baidack, Mutual 6

Probably the most interesting thing about my dad, Irving Baidack, was that he led such a diverse life, believing do the best you can and you will be more than enough.

Sometime in his 20s, my dad learned to play the saxophone, clarinet and xylophone (vibes). He and his best friends Carl and Laura enjoyed a professional music career together into the mid 1950s. After my dad returned from Europe at the end of WWII, they all played together in the Bob Heller Orchestra (my dad’s “professional” name) at the Park Terrace night club in Brooklyn until about 1957-58.

The orchestra was a big band like other popular bands at the time and had 12 members.

His music and full-time career kept him busy but he always saved time for community service and family development. As a family we were all musicians and shared many hours being creative, musical and magical.

Around 1975 my dad retired. Never once forgetting his passions, he continued giving back to the community, making a difference mentoring young adults pursue their dreams. This eventually led to working as a teacher’s assistant in high school wood shop classes and giving history lectures related to his WWII experiences. He also mentored young employees at Home Depot stores, and was once the oldest Home Depot employee in the country, working there at 90-plus years of age. Culley Eaby brought D-Day to mind with his rendition of “God Bless America.” Songs like “Lets Twist Again” and “Sad Movies Make Me Cry” got folks on their feet to dance. The audience welcomed Joe Sabroso, who sang “Greenfields” and Bob Dodson, who did a popular showtune. #### My Dad

Some important things I know, I learned from my Dad.
Like changing the oil and a tire makes me very glad.
My Dad likes to fix it, tinker with it, customize it and build it,
Yet he is also content to sit around and collect certificates.

My Dad is a wonderful guy though often misunderstood.
Sadly I don’t sing his praises as often as I should.
He’s the one who smiles even when paying the bills,
Yet drives me crazy when he makes mountains out of molehills.

I think of him as protector and provider, sometimes with the notion,
That he is not subject to that thing many call emotion.
Yet inside my Dad’s heart where no one else can see,
I find the sentiment and softness that’s as it should be.

My Dad is just plain wonderful in a zillion little ways.
He deserves loving compliments and accolades of praise.
So whether I call him Dad, Daddy or Father Dear,
It is with a loving heart, I name him Man of the Year!

A Terrible Cat's After Me

We were great fans of Stan and Ollie
Back in the forties they made us feel jolly

In the annals of comedic skits
Stan Laurel played a befuddled ditz

He once ate a bowl of waxy fruit
His audience found it quite a hoot

When scared, his cry was high and squeaky
His hair on top was tousled and geeky

Stan's partner, Ollie was likewise witty
But in real life ol' Stan fed the kitty

He was the one who wrote their plots—
The entrepreneur who called the shots

partment for the strong commitment to meet the continued needs of the community and for their work to get the event together. Golden Age Foundation volunteers provided drive-up service during the June 6 shredding event.

June shredding event was success

Free document shredding is one of the Golden Age Foundation's service programs for shareholders in Leisure World.

Every four months the GAF pays for a truck to come to the Clubhouse 2 parking lot to shred sensitive documents from 10 a.m.-noon.

On June 6, in spite of the June gloom weather, well over 200 shareholders took advantage of the service. Twenty-nine barrels of documents were shredded.

Ten Golden Age Foundation board members volunteered to serve water and carry documents to the barrels or to offer drive-through service so shareholders didn't need to get out their vehicles to unload their bags and boxes.

The next shredding service is planned for Thursday, Oct. 3. LW SHREDDER, page 21

The Urban Light exhibit greets visitors to Los Angeles County Museum of Art 24-hours a day. LACMA offers more than 150,000 works of art

The Leisure World Library is escorting a trip to the Los Angeles County Museum of Art (LACMA) on Tuesday, July 16. The cost of the trip is $43.

LACMA is located in Hancock Park on Wilshire Boulevard. The campus is over 20 acres and has more than 150,000 works of art spanning the history of art from ancient times to the present.

LACMA is the largest art museum in the western United States. It is located halfway between the beach and downtown Los Angeles, in the Miracle Mile district. The museum is adjacent to the famous La Brea Tar Pits fossil site.

LACMA serves more than a million visitors a year with its rich art collection. Among the museum's strengths are its holdings of Asian art, Latin American art, ranging from pre-Columbian masterpieces to works by leading modern and contemporary artists; and Islamic art, of which LACMA hosts one of the most significant collections in the world.

LACMA opened in 1910 as part of the Los Angeles County Museum of History, Science and Art, located in Exposition Park.

In 1961, LACMA became a separate, art-focused institution. LACMA opened its new Wilshire Boulevard location to the public in 1965. The museum is built in a style similar to the Lincoln Center and the Los Angeles Music Center, consisting of three buildings, the Ahmanson Building, the Bing Center, and the Frances and Armand Hammer Building. The Ahmanson Building features the permanent collection; the Hammer Building houses special exhibitions; and the Bing Center is a 600-seat theater used for public programs.

Urban Light is indisputably the most popular artwork on campus. It is composed of 202 historic street lamps dating from the 1920s-930s that were originally spread throughout Southern California. Urban light was unofficially adopted by Los Angeles as a symbol of the city.

In honor of the sculpture's 10th anniversary, last year, all 309 incandescent light bulbs were replaced with LED bulbs, resulting in approximately 90 percent savings in power for LACMA while also reducing emissions of greenhouse gas and other harmful pollutants. The sculpture is outside in the Smidt Welcome Plaza and can be seen from the street 24 hours a day.

Check in for the trip will begin at 9:15 a.m. in the Clubhouse 4 parking lot. The bus will depart LW at 9:45 a.m. The bus will depart the museum at 4 p.m.

Once inside the museum participants are free to peruse the collection at their leisure. There are multiple dining options on LACMA campus or bring a lunch.

Tickets can be purchased at the Recreation Department in Building 5.

For more information on the trip, visit the Library or call 598-2431. For information regarding tickets availability, call 431-6586, ext. 326.

Grand Canyon National Park celebrates 100th anniversary

On Feb. 26, 1919, the Grand Canyon became a national park. The canyon is one of the seven natural wonders of the world.

In 1903, President Theodore Roosevelt visited the site and said: "The Grand Canyon fills me with awe. It is beyond comparison—beyond description; absolutely unparalleled through-out the wide world... Let this great wonder of nature remain as it now is. Do nothing to mar its grandeur, sublimity and loveliness. You cannot improve on it. But what you can do is to keep it for your children, your children's children, and all who come after you, as the one great sight which every American should see."

It was 16 years before the canyon with its unique combinations of geologic color and erosional forms was granted protection through the Grand Canyon National Park Act. The act was signed by President Woodrow Wilson in 1919. The National Park Service, established in 1916, assumed administration of the park.

Grand Canyon overwhelms our senses through its immense size.

In 1979, UNESCO declared the park a World Heritage Site.

The canyon is 277 river miles long, up to 18 miles wide and a mile deep. It was formed over time by the Colorado River. Scientists estimate that the river first carved out its path more than 17 million years ago.

Even though the average distance across the canyon is only 10 miles, it takes five hours to drive the 215 miles between the park's South Rim Village and the North Rim Village.

American Indians have cared for, shared knowledge of and admired this special place as the

INTERNATIONAL CITY THEATER

'Bestseller' opens June 14 at Performing Arts Center

International City Theatre presents a zany comic romp about writers, how they write, the stories they tell and the secrets they keep.

Jane Page directs the world premiere of "Bestseller," by internationally renowned playwright Peter Quilter for a three-week run, June 14-30, at International City Theatre at the Long Beach Performing Arts Center.

A low-priced preview is set for tonight, June 13, at 8 p.m.

Wendy Worthington stars as Maureen, host of a writers' retreat at her isolated cottage in the British countryside.

Her current guests include Shelley, played by Alexandra Ruth Wright (last seen at ICT in "Crimes of the Heart"), a hot young writer of steamy romance novels; dark, broody Damien, played by Ian McQuown, who specializes in tales of terror, murder and mayhem; and Alex, portrayed by Eric Myrick, who is desperately searching for ideas in the face of writer's block.

As they settle in to work, their three hilarious books suddenly jump off the page, with Julia Davis and Sam Spanjian bringing each of the characters to comical life on stage.

"It's not often we get to see a play that is so wonderfully inventive and raucous," says Page.

"The art and craft of writing is built into our everyday thinking and communicating—we often talk about 'turning a page' in our life, or being 'on the same page' with someone or, perhaps, 'rewriting a chapter in our life.'"

Peter Quilter is recognized as one of the most widely produced playwrights in the world. He is best known for his West End comedy "Glorious!" about amateur opera singer Florence Foster Jenkins (produced by ICT in 2014). "Glorious!" was immortalized on film by Meryl Streep.

"Bestseller" runs Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays at 8 p.m. and Sundays at 2 p.m., June 14-30.

Tickets are $47 on Thursdays and Fridays, and $49 on Saturdays and Sundays, except for June 14 (opening night) for which tickets are $55 and include a post-performance reception. International City Theatre is located in the Long Beach Performing Arts Center at 330 East Seaside Way in Long Beach. For reservations and information, call 436-4610 or go to InternationalCityTheatre.org.

• There is only one valid solution to each Sudoku puzzle. The only way the puzzle can be considered solved correctly is when all 81 boxes contain numbers and the other Sudoku rules have been followed.
• When you start a game of Sudoku, some blocks will be pre-filled for you. You cannot change these numbers in the course of the game.
• Each column must contain all of the numbers 1 through 9 and no two numbers in the same column of a Sudoku puzzle can be the same.
• Each row must contain all of the numbers 1 through 9 and no two numbers in the same row of a Sudoku puzzle can be the same.
• Each block must contain all of the numbers 1 through 9 and no two numbers in the same block of a Sudoku puzzle can be the same.

canyon’s original stewards for over 12,000 years.

A variety of activities at the South Rim cater to park visitors. A driving tour, 35 miles, along the South Rim is split into two segments. The western drive to Hermit’s Point is 8 miles with several overlooks along the way. Access to Hermit’s Rest is restricted to the free shuttle provided by the Park Service from March-December. The eastern portion to Desert View is 25 miles is open to private vehicles year round.

Walking tours include the Rim Trail, which runs west from the Pipe Creek viewpoint for about 8 miles of paved road, followed by 7 miles unpaved to Hermit’s Rest. Hikes can begin almost anywhere along this trail, and a shuttle can return hikers to their point of origin.
