‘California Dreaming’ group comes to Amphitheater tonight

The Papas & Mamas: Tribute to the Mamas & The Papas
Comic Mark Schiff to open

Thursday, Aug. 22
8 p.m.
Sponsor: MemorialCare Health System

The Papas & Mamas

The Mamas and the Papas became a pivotal part of American culture in the 1960s with the very roots of the hippie movement be directly traced to the band’s artistic influence. Prior to the Mamas and the Papas, most vocal groups were unisex and dressed very conservatively.

When Cass, John, Denny and Michelle hit the scene, those stereotypes flew out the window. Their unique style and light pop arrangements helped put California on the musical map, and the laid-back 60’s West Coast lifestyle was born.

Billed as a loving tribute to the original 1960s rock band, The Papas & Mamas recreate the musical chemistry of one of the few North American groups to maintain widespread success during the British Invasion. With its tight, four-part harmonies and close physical resemblance to the groundbreaking original group, The Papas & Mamas have entertained audiences all the way from Ojai, California, to Barcelona, Spain.

The evening features the greatest hits of one America’s greatest bands. Sherry Land-Hicks performs as “Mama” Cass Elliot. Mike Butler’s smooth tenor pipes are spot on as Denny Doherty. Natalie Wilde adds her angelic soprano voice as ageless beauty Michelle Phillips, and Randy Ray Mitchell rounds out the cast as Papa John Phillips.

Their haunting performance of “California Dreaming” will take you back to the sweet Southern California pop scene of the mid/late 60s. Whether you’re a fan of The Mamas and the Papas or a newcomer to the sound, an evening with The Papas & Mamas will have audiences dancing in their seats and trigger fond memories of a time gone by—whose time has come again.

Comic Mark Schiff

When Mark Schiff was 12, his parents took him to a nightclub, and there, live on stage was Rodney Dangerfield doing his act. At that moment, Schiff knew the path he had to follow. He has since headlined in major casinos and clubs across the country and has appeared many times on “The Tonight Show” with Jay Leno and “Late Night with David Letterman.” He has written for and guest starred on “Mad About You”; appeared on “Empty Nest”; and written for the “The Roseanne Show.” He currently performs with Jerry Seinfeld.

MUSEUM OF TOLERANCE

LW Library hosts bus trip on Oct. 3

The Leisure World Library will host a bus trip Oct. 3 to the Museum of Tolerance, a museum to educate and enlighten. Tickets are $35 and include bus transportation, museum entry and tour.

In the late 1980s, the world's top museums began discussing how to promote tolerance and understanding. The decision was made to create a museum—but not an ordinary museum of artifacts and documents. As Simon Wiesenthal expressed, it must not only remind us of the past, but remind us to act.

In February 1993, the Museum of Tolerance opened to the public. The Museum of Tolerance (MOT) is a human rights laboratory and educational center dedicated to challenging visitors to understand the Holocaust in both historic and contemporary contexts.

The Museum of Tolerance is both a tribute and a warning; a tribute to the six million Jews and millions of others, including

CLUBHOUSE COURTESY PART 2

Etiquette is a two-way street

by Kathy Thayer
assistant recreation manager

Part I of this series addressed some of the issues custodians deal with on a daily basis in keeping our clubhouses running smoothly. Courtesy is a two-way street, and GRF works with Innovative Cleaning Services management on a daily basis to resolve problems that arise between its staff and our shareholder/members in an effort to keep our amenity experiences pleasant for all.

Let's face it: We're dealing with human beings, and as such we all have good days and bad days. Just as we expect our shareholder/members and their guests to be considerate of staff, we require that respect to be reciprocated by both GRF and ICS employees. In a perfect world, we'd all join hands and sing "Kumbaya," but that is simply not reality.

All clubhouses are equipped with "report cards", as it were, that custodians should offer to clubs, Mutual meetings and private parties who reserve clubhouse space to let us know how the custodian performed his or her duties. If one is not offered to you, ask for it!

Should an issue or dispute arise regarding the accommodations for your reservation, or any problem the custodian is unable to address, ask them to contact their supervisor. Every shift has one, plus an overseer, who is a phone call away. If the Recreation Office is open, we are here to serve. If it is after office hours, call Security and ask for the custodial supervisor.

Regular breaks for all employees are mandated by state and federal law and violating them can be very costly to an employer. Residents and their guests need to respect those breaks, but we do understand they may come at exactly the wrong time: Just when a microphone fails, or help is needed with a projector. The solution is simple: Call the Recreation office or Security (off hours) and a supervisor will be dispatched.

As previously noted (see Part 1, page 3, Aug. 15 LW Weekly), an accurate sketch of the desired setup is the key to having your event equipped the way you would like, within reason. The Recreation Department, in concert with whoever makes the reservation, will help you determine what is and is not possible. With a recurring reservation, a permanent sketch can be made and is retained in the clubhouse, our office, and the club's file. If a room is not set up according to this drawing, ask the custodian to show you your sketch to settle the dispute.

If this occurs regularly, let Recreation know so it can be rectified. However, as mentioned in Part I, if you ask for deviations to your setup, you will be referred to the Recreation Office as the custodians are trained not to do this except for small, reasonable concessions.

The good news is the vast majority of Leisure Worlders regularly take the time to compliment staff, but we all can stop and think when things aren't going our way; a tactful word, a small act of kindness, and a smile can go a long way in making every day a better one for everybody.

Not all magazine sweepstakes are scams

by Cathie Merz
cathiem_news@lwsb.com

This is the time of year when magazines push to expand subscriptions to boost readership numbers by offering contests and giveaways. There are a lot of magazine subscription scams out there, but not all magazine contests and giveaways are scams.

Good Housekeeping, Woman's Day, O Magazine, Redbook, Publishers Clearing House and many other publications sponsor sweepstakes that are trustworthy, fun and offer prizes that appeal to the magazine's readers. By entering, a person can win cash, trips, household items and more.

While magazine sweepstakes are generally not scams, there are a few things to keep in mind when entering them, especially if you don't want to end up paying for subscriptions.

Many magazine sweepstakes offer an opportunity to subscribe to the publication or to get a free trial when entering the contest. The publishers call this a courtesy, to make subscribing easy.

However, when entering a contest it can often be tricky to avoid subscribing to the magazine. Many people entering sweepstakes complained about being signed up for unwanted subscriptions, even though they had entered through a "click here to enter without subscribing" link.

When entering the sweepstakes, be sure to read the small print closely.

Look for an option to enter without subscribing. There should be a link or button that says something like, "Enter sweepstakes without subscribing." If you don't see one, read the sweepstakes rules to find the entry method without signing up for the magazine. All sweepstakes have to provide a non-purchase method of entry. After entering watch for mail or email that says you have subscribed to the magazine.

If you receive a subscription letter or a magazine in the mail, that you did not want to subscribe to, cancel it by contacting the magazine's customer service department, or return the invoice immediately and write "Did Not Subscribe - Please Cancel" on the invoice.

Don't ignore unwanted subscriptions. Even if the magazine publisher does not have a credit card to use to charge you, magazines can cause trouble for people who do not pay their subscription fees, like leaving negative reports on non-payers' credit reports, which then lowers your credit. So be proactive if you are receiving magazines that you don't want.

Recently LWer Ellen Larsen was contacted by "Reader's Digest" saying she won $4.8 million from "Forbes" in a sweepstakes she never entered.

Paying to collect a prize is a scam. Every time. And scammers like to ask you to send money by Western Union or MoneyGram, or by getting a prepaid card or gift card. Why? Because it's nearly impossible to trace that money – and you'll almost never get your money back.

Publishers Clearing House and the FTC get many reports about scammers using the Publishers Clearing House name to deceive people. Scammers call, claiming you've won the sweepstakes – but, to collect your prize, you need to send money to pay for so-called fees and taxes.

If you think you've won a prize, here are a few things to know:

- Publishers Clearing House will never ask you to pay a fee to collect a prize. In fact, no legit prize promoter will ever charge you to win. If anyone calls asking you to pay for a prize, hang up and report it to the FTC.
- Publisher's Clearing House doesn't call ahead to say they've won.

Letters to the Editor

Editor:
Open Letter to Recreation Committee

I'm president of LW Orchestra, Burning Tree Duplicate Bridge club and board member of LW Duplicate Bridge Club. In the last 2-3 years the Recreation Committee has not contacted me or any of my fellow board members to get our input on proposed changes to club membership.

I think that the committees could manage clubs much more effectively if they sought our input first before publishing proposed rules. If we could work together, life would be a lot less stressful!

The proposed new rules put additional burden on clubs and threaten the future existence of some of them. Most of the musical clubs (Velvetones, Dixieland Jazz, LW Orchestra and others) who perform for LW on various occasions depend on guests to fill in all the instruments required to have a complete ensemble. Do you really want to eliminate these groups?

The new proposal states a club can't be a duplicate of an existing club. Does that mean elimination of one bridge club and two pinochle clubs? The bridge club has motivated some guests to purchase units in LW and become residents. It is a good ambassador for LW.

The relationship between the clubs and the Recreation Committee is deteriorating. We stand ready to work with the committee to improve that relationship if they will just meet us halfway.

Fred Reker

Editor:

We live near the north end of St. Andrews Drive and we are not in favor of seeing more of the Seal Beach Police Department policing our streets. But if I'm following a security thread correctly in the LW Weekly, because some people cannot show restraint when driving, SBPD policing LW streets appears to be a "done deal." We should all be more mindful of the community rules when driving around our community.

Yet we constantly see drivers zipping past our house far in excess of the speed limit, and have had impatient drivers behind us when we are merely observing the 25-mile-per-hour speed limit. We also frequently observe drivers going through stop signs without even attempting to stop.

Is it too much to ask shareholder residents to abide by the rules of the road? But if the residents are expected to obey the rules, certainly GRF staff should set the example. We gave up trying to follow a Leisure World bus that blew past us this afternoon because we couldn't keep up even at 35 miles per hour.

As senior adults, we should be able to control ourselves and honor the community rules of the road without additional policing. But those rules must also apply equally to LW and GRF staff, contractors and our guests. Let's not think that the rules apply to others, but not me.

Peter Bates,
Mutual 7

Editor:

I have been a resident in Leisure World for seven years. It is a wonderful place to live. When I moved in, there were numbers on the street, designating the speed limit and I felt very safe walking and riding my bike—that has all changed and now the numbers have come off the streets and people are driving like maniacs, flying down the streets and endangering everyone.

This is unacceptable—no one is paying attention to the speed limit. My neighbors almost got hit walking their dog and another neighbor's dog did get hit and went flying into the street.

This is a senior community and not displaying the speed limit on the streets is endangering everyone—whatever the reason for this change, it must be remedied immediately.

The speed limit needs to be displayed so Leisure World becomes safe once again for every resident.

SECURITY CORNER

Update on LW Traffic Enforcement Safety Program

by Victor Rocha security services director

The Golden Rain Foundation at Leisure World, Seal Beach, is committed to the safety and of all residents, especially in regards to vehicle traffic and pedestrian safety. To that end, the GRF Board of Directors has made positive steps in the past few years to enhance safety inside LWSB.

The Board of Directors has received numerous communications from residents sharing their concerns regarding traffic and pedestrian safety inside the community. Concerns included all types of violations, from red light violations to non-compliance with posted stop signs and excessive speed. After careful deliberation, a proposal was made by the GRF Board to review the possibility of having Seal Beach Police Department enforce traffic laws within the community. Before this could possibly occur, the streets within Leisure World have to be certified to meet the same standard as any public street outside the community. This entails having a Certified Traffic Engineer certify that LWSB streets meet the standards of the California Manual on Uniformed Traffic Control Devices (CAMUTCD)

To ensure compliance with the rules, GRF removed over 160 traffic signs, removed pavement markings, updated traffic control devices, and painted red curbs where required to allow space for emergency vehicles. This process began in 2017. On Feb. 14, 2019, we received our Certificate of Compliance.

The GRF Board of Directors has now made a formal request to the City of Seal Beach to conduct traffic enforcement inside the community. The Seal Beach City Council is currently reviewing our request.

I know there are some unanswered questions regarding this proposed enforcement. Be assured that we will be holding numerous Town Hall meetings with all residents and with members of the police department present we will be able to address any concerns.

- As a reminder:
- The same traffic rules that apply outside of the community also apply inside the community.
 - If you observe any GRF employees not complying with traffic regulations, you may report this activity 24 hours-a-day, 7 days-a-week on my voice mail, 431-658, ext. 371, or by e-mail, victorr@lwsb.com.
 - There are no laws in California that can restrict or deny someone a driver's license based on age only.
- If you have any questions or concerns, contact me.

OPTUMCARE AT THE HCC

Meet new doctor Aug 30. at 10 a.m.

By Carson J. Blomquist
OptumCare

You can meet Dr. Chung, as well as other HCC providers, at a special meet-and-greet event on Friday, Aug. 30. The event will run from 10-noon. Light refreshments will be provided. All residents are welcome to attend.

The Health Care Center continues to grow, offering more specialists and primary care doctors than before. Recently, Dr. Christopher Chung joined the HCC after completing his medical residency and fellowship training. I sat down with Dr. Chung recently to learn more about his experiences.

Where did you grow up?

Dr. Chung: I was born and raised right here in Orange County, and I couldn't imagine living anywhere else!

Why did you pursue medicine?

Dr. Chung: It was because of my family. I watched and learned through our own experiences with a marvelous yet daunting medical system. Some experiences were good, others not so good. But they all helped me realize that, as a medical doctor, I could help other families and patients during the most crucial parts of their lives.

Where did you study medicine?

Dr. Chung: I attended Loma Linda University School of Medicine, then completed a Family Medicine Residency and an extra Geriatric Fellowship at Kaiser Permanente Los Angeles. I did not want to be anywhere but Southern California.

What do you like to do outside the office?

Dr. Chung: I enjoy spending time with my wife, family, and friends. I also try to stay pretty active by hiking, playing basketball, and golfing.

What is your philosophy as a doctor?

Dr. Chung: Serve my patients with the utmost compassion and in the safest way possible. I know patients don't fit into a specific formula or algorithm; everyone has different beliefs and needs. They deserve a doctor who will appreciate what makes that person unique.

Dr. Chung views health and healthcare as a journey, one which both the patient and doctor are part of. "I want to be part of my patient's journey through life and aging," he said. "I want to help my patients to be well and thrive so they can get back to what really matters most to them."

Dr. Christopher S. Chung is available for new patients. He is fluent in English and Korean. To make an appointment with him at the Health Care Center, call (562) 493-9581.

The Importance of watching your daily sugar intake

Learn how to limit calories from added sugars—and still enjoy the foods and drinks that you love. Choosing a healthy eating pattern low in added sugars can have important health benefits.

The 2015-2020 Dietary Guidelines for Americans by www.health.gov recommends limiting calories from added sugars to no more than 10% each day. That's 200 calories, or about 12 teaspoons, for a 2,000 calorie diet.

Just like it sounds, added sugars aren't in foods naturally—they're added. Sugars and syrups that food manufacturers add to products like sodas, yogurt, candies, cereals and cookies are a main contributor. Sugar you add yourself—like the teaspoon of sugar in your coffee. Some foods have sugar naturally—like fruits, vegetables, and milk. The sugars in these foods are not added sugars. Eating and drinking too many foods and beverages with added sugars makes it difficult to achieve a healthy eating pattern without taking in too many calories. Added sugars contribute calories, but no essential nutrients.

Foods that have added sugar include but are not limited to regular sodas, energy drinks, sports drinks, candy, fruit drinks, such as Snapple and fruit punch, cake, cookies, brownies, pies and cobblers, sweet rolls, pastries, doughnuts and dairy desserts, such as ice cream.

To cut down on sugar you don't have to give up the foods you love completely. Instead, you can limit added sugars by making some smart, small changes to how you eat.

Here are three things you can do:

1. Find out how many calories you're getting from added sugars. You can use the USDA's website www.supertracker.usda.gov to get an idea. Once you know, you can make changes. The average American gets 270 calories of added sugars each day. That's about 17 teaspoons of sugar.
2. Make some healthy shifts. Replace foods and drinks high in added sugars with healthier options. Eat fruit for dessert instead of cookies or cakes, swap sugary cereals for unsweetened cereal with fruit and drink water or low-fat milk with meals instead of sodas. It isn't necessary to cut out foods and drinks with added sugars—just choose smaller portions or have them less often.
3. Always check the ingredients. Look for added sugars in the ingredients list. The higher up added sugars are on the list, the more added sugar is in the product. Added sugars go by a lot of different names like: brown sugar, corn sweetener, corn syrup, dextrose, fructose, glucose, high-fructose corn syrup, honey, invert sugar, lactose, malt syrup, maltose, molasses, raw sugar, sucrose, trehalose, and turbinado sugar. Added sugars hide in foods that you might not expect. They're common in foods like pasta sauces, crackers, pizzas, and more.

Using plants as therapy

Nature therapy, also known as “forest bathing” can reduce blood pressure, lower stress, and even improve concentration and memory, among other benefits. You don't have to live near a wooded area to reap the benefits. Incorporating organic elements into your home will help you stay in constant contact with nature. Below is a curated list of tips to help bring forest bathing into your home.

1. Create an indoor space for growing plants. Consider incorporating a green wall or mounted planter to add some life to an office or family room. You can also add plants to cabinets or window ledges.

2. Incorporate plants that act as natural air purifiers. Peace Lily, Golden Pothos, English Ivy, Chrysanthemum, Gerbera Daisy, Mother-In-Law's Tongue, Bamboo Palm, Azalea, Red-Edge Dracaena and the Spider Plant are some of the most recommended plants to help clean the air in your home.

3. Eat fresh herbs. Growing herbs in your home will add an element of green to your space, and fresh herbs are good for you, too. If you don't have a green thumb, start with one of the easiest herbs to grow inside, such as mint or thyme.

A book to help deal with a breast cancer diagnoses

For those who receive a diagnosis of breast cancer, there is nothing more panic-inducing. The brain can travel to some dark places and linger there forever without proper intervention. Enter Princess Diane von Brainisfried (aka Diane Young Uniman), an award-winning writer and breast cancer survivor who aims to help others rediscover their happy headspaces with her irreverently humor-filled new release; “Bonjour, Breast Cancer — I’m Still Smiling!”

Written with a deliciously humorous tone, this essential guide to beating the breast cancer blues combines von Brainisfried’s own experiences and insights with research-based positive psychology strategies. Along the way, she shares wisdom from Socrates, Cherokee legends and her own Jewish great-grandmother to help those facing cancer diagnoses reclaim their happiness mojo and move from fear and despair to positivity and optimism.

From her own breast cancer diagnosis to chemo, baldness, double mastectomy, and radiation, she holds nothing back. Imparting refreshing honesty to encourage and empower others on their journeys. Regaining equilibrium and reclaiming happiness following a cancer diagnosis is not easy. The book shares advice and wisdom to find positivity in the face of the challenges posed by breast cancer and everything that goes with it.

“The Artist,” rated PG-13, will be shown Wednesday, Aug. 28, in Clubhouse 4, at 2 and 7 p.m. In 1927, George Valentin is a silent movie superstar. However, the advent of the talkies will kill his career, and he will sink into oblivion. For young extra Peppy Miller, it seems the sky’s the limit as major movie stardom awaits. Though their careers are taking different paths their destinies will become entwined. The cast includes Jean Dujardin, Bérénice Bejo, James Cromwell, Penelope Ann Miller and Malcolm McDowell. Some scenes and language may offend some viewers. Can’t make the movie? Borrow it from the LW Library for free any time.

Tyler Dilts, author of the acclaimed Long Beach Homicide Book Series, will visit the Leisure World Library on Thursday, Sept. 5, at 11 a.m. Tyler will talk about his books and his journey to becoming a writer.

The Long Beach Homicide Series follows Detective Danny Beckett through various trials and tribulations as he works to solve some of Long Beach's most heinous crimes while attempting to cope with his own personal traumas.

Tyler's father was a L.A. County sheriff's deputy and as a child, Tyler thought he would follow in his father's footsteps. But his life ultimately went in another direction.

When decided to write a book, he knew it would be a police procedural.

LW LIBRARY

Vivacious LWer loans postcard collection to library

by Ruth Osborn
rutho_news@lwsb.com

Donna Hughes of Mutual 15 is a vivacious blonde with a smile on her face and a lot to do. On a recent Thursday morning, she was on her way to deadhead 200 rose bushes at the Leisure World Veterans Memorial. But first, she stopped by the Leisure World Library to show off her vast collection of vintage post cards that are now on display there.

Roses and postcards—both pursuits had seeds in her childhood, and both have yielded good fruit in her life. From her mother came a love of roses, which she nurtures through her work at the beautiful Leisure World rose bed between clubhouses 3 and 4. And from her father, a love of cars, and indirectly, a fascination with postcards.

“My father, Norman Krueger, loved vintage cars, so I’d go with him to antique car and collectibles shows, where he searched for old car parts.

“He told me I needed to collect something to occupy myself. I learned all about cars from him, and I started my postcard collection because of him,” she said.

She started collecting at age 8, when postcards cost 3-5 cents each. The cars came later, but she has eight, including the classic 54 Chevy, a 58 Coupe Deville and a Mercedes.

What began as a random hobby mushroomed into a collection of over 8,000 cards dating from LWer Donna Hughes with some of the postcards in her extensive collection.

1900-1910: “That’s not huge in the PC world,” said Donna. “Some collectors have over 100,000.”

At one time, her collection filled bins and more bins.

“When I got married, my husband said, ‘you gotta get rid of some of this paper.’”

So she did. She donated, gave away and traded down, winnowing her collection to holiday cards, with Halloween the subject of her most prized holdings. They have the most value, especially the ones with scary witches, smoking cauldrons and screeching owls and devils.

Donna’s most expensive card cost $240, but the bulk of them were much less expensive, which is one of the appealing aspects of the hobby.

In the beginning postcards were popular because they were a quick and easy way for people to communicate with each other.

Consider postcards the text messaging of the late 1800s, which was the “golden era” of postcards. People sent these cheap greetings (that anyone could read) for any reason, but especially on holidays.

This trend lasted until around 1918.

Today it’s a popular hobby because, as collectibles go, they are cheap, easy to organize and you can hold them, said Donna.

And it’s one LW residents can vicariously enjoy through the end of August when they stop by the display cases at the Leisure World Library.

Hui O Hula thanks Gertie Burin of Mutual 6 for the invitation to celebrate her 80th birthday with hula Aug. 10. Many friends and neighbors showed up, and all enjoyed the pleasant afternoon. It was quite a sight to see the spread of food, which included 22 boxes of extra-large pizza that Gertie purchased with her recycle money. Live entertainment was provided by good neighbors Mike Simpson, Terry Otte (l) and Hui O Hula’s Larry Yamashiro (r) and hula dancers. Gertie, a 14-year-resident, has a heart of gold. She enjoys caregiving and dog walking for her neighbors. Her birthday wish is to have the opportunity to celebrate her 90th birthday with everyone there. Hui O Hula continues to offer free dance lessons to all. Call 252-9676 for more information.

One called “Ageless Living” was painted in Clubhouse 6 in 2004 and unveiled with a public dedication by the GRF that year, according to Leslie. A commemorative plaque honored mural artists Marty Silberling, Carmen Leslie, Sharon Hamilton, Howard Christian, Pat Geltner, Walter Allison, Harriet Roth and Ray Grier. The Leisure World Library mural was painted in 2008. Both murals, which were recently painted over, were LW landmarks for more than a decade.

“He was a great guy, so funny,” said Leslie, a longtime friend. “I’ll really miss him. I first met him in the 1970s, when he took one of my painting classes. I didn’t see him for a long time, then he walked into an art meeting here in Leisure World, and there he was. We had lots of good times, teaching together and painting the murals. Everybody loved Marty!”

Martin was born Nov. 5, 1924, in Brooklyn, New York, to Sam Silberling and Frances (Mickey) Kessler. When Marty, as he was called, was about 10 years old, his mother got cancer, which slowly and painfully took her life over a five-year period.

From 10 to 15 years of age, Marty took care of her, often carrying her around the house. He left school after eighth grade at age 13 to work for his father, who had a bagel-and-cream-cheese stand on Coney Island.

As a teen, Marty was a gifted drummer, and he had a set in his house. Girls in his Brooklyn neighborhood would come hear him play and listen to his vast record collection. One day, when he was 15, Ruth, a 13-year-old neighbor, came over with some friends. She accidentally sat on his records, breaking a bunch of them. Not only was it not the end of this relationship, but they went on their first date to the 1939 World’s Fair, according to his son, Murray Silberling. It was the start of a 70-year relationship.

The war came, and Marty joined the Coast Guard at 17. He and Ruth were married after the war in 1945.

By then, Ruth’s parents had moved to Toronto, Canada, so the couple settled there and began their lives, having two children, Fran and Murray. After Marty’s father, Sam, had a heart attack, Sam moved to Los Angeles to start Silkauf Manufacturing Company. Marty and his family followed Sam out in 1951, buying a new house in Sun Valley in 1952 for

Marty’s younger brother, Bob, who had finished Dorsey High School and was accepted at UCLA, didn’t have a place to live, so Marty took him in for six or seven years.

In 1959 Marty moved to Long Beach and opened a liquor store in Downey.

His other brother, Larry, moved out from New York. All three brothers remained close through the years.

In 1975, Marty had the first of two heart attacks that forced him to change his life. He moved into Leisure World, Seal Beach, and retired.

He became a prolific painter and ceramicist at 60 years of age, a second life that led to the founding of the LW Art League, blue ribbons in art contests, painting the murals and exhibitions of his work.

Marty’s paintings hang in the central hallway of Clubhouse 3 and at the Health Care Center in addition to adorning the homes of many Leisure World residents.

And Marty managed this vibrant life making art while caring for his beloved wife, who was a diabetic. She passed away in 2009.

His paintings are exclusively in oil and reflect his courage in using color and eye for natural beauty, composition and often humor in works that span several genres, according to Steve Moore, a fellow award-winning painter and Art League member.

Marty was a fixture at Art League classes, where he mentored those new to oil painting. He was known for inspiring many of the artists in Leisure World today, as well as bringing fun, joy and whimsy to the classes. This is where Marty met Ann Hurley, and they became close friends for many years.

A four-time past president of the LW Art League, Marty took the lead in shaping the group into what it has become today.

Under his direction, the club hosted art workshops, sales events, artist receptions, picnics and public art projects. He belonged to the Art League for about 35 years and was the club’s most senior member.

Marty was survived by two children, Frances Lynn Kalish and Murray Silberling; four grandchildren, Jeanine Bender, Ellen Sacks, Lonnie Silberling and Jordan Silberling; and seven great grandchildren, Sarah Vitug, Miranda Shamrell, Lilia Silberling, Asher Silberling, J.P. Sacks, Ella Silberling and Micah Silberling.

GAF

Introducing new hospitality chair

by Linda Johnson
LW contributor

Meet Martha Goossens—really, come down to Clubhouse 6, Monday-Friday between the hours of 9-11 a.m. and meet the new hospitality chair, Martha. She joined the Hospitality team in June, 2018. Along with her husband, Bernie, Martha has been working regularly since then. In the fall of 2018, Martha joined the Golden Age Foundation Board. She has consistently helped with many of the Golden Age programs and projects, including shredding, Jax Bikes, expos, decorating for events, brainstorming, and now she is stepping up her game to lead the Hospitality Team.

Martha and her husband, Bernie, moved from Downey into LW in February 2018. Right away, they both started doing volunteer work. As Martha says, “It makes for a happier life when you are busy helping people.” Both Martha and Bernie enjoy the Hospitality program and they enjoy living in LW. They are still getting their feet wet and they are getting to know all of the rules....sometimes the hard way. Martha and Bernie have been married for over 40 years.

In Martha’s “previous life,” she worked in the banking business, secretary, payroll, AARP tax preparer and caregiver. She is enjoying retirement. Her joys are cross stitching, as well as reading.

In celebrating 20 years of the Hospitality program, the GAF also celebrates past leader, Carl Kennedy and its new leader, Martha Goossens. Here is to the next 20 years.

For information about volunteering in this program, call Martha, 221-3008. She would love to hear from you.

During the social hour, guests will have the opportunity to join or renew their Golden Age Foundation memberships.

Don’t miss the silent auction display on the front table. The last couple years the silent auction was a huge success. There will be a dozen or so items to bid on, such as technical support, food baskets, artwork, gift cards from famous restaurants, etc.

Tickets, $25, will be available Monday-Friday, beginning Monday, Aug. 26, in the Clubhouse 6 Hospitality Center between 10-11 a.m. Tables for clubs or friends who want a guaranteed seating arrangement are $200 each.

Tickets can also be purchased from 9 a.m-5 p.m., from Nickie Weisel, social chair at (714)318-2053; or Gail Levitt, social co-chair, 596-1346.

LW Democratic Club is gearing up for active season

During its Aug. 13 meeting, the SBLW Democratic Club Board adopted a series of short- and long-range goals and developed plans for a Leisure World voter registration booth similar to the one members recently helped staff at the Orange County Fair. The board also discussed the important role “No Preferred Party” voters will play in the upcoming March 3 Primary Election.

The voter registration booth will be located in front of Clubhouse 6 from 1-3 p.m. on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, beginning Aug. 27. There will be training for volunteers willing to help. Call 412-0898 or email lwsbdemocraticclub@gmail.com to volunteer.

A copy of the club’s newly adopted goals can be found at the club’s website, <http://sblwdems.wordpress.com>.

The board also approved the appointment of Martha Warner as the new chair of the program committee, Susan Thiedt as co-chair of the Publicity Committee and Clara Wise as board secretary.

Board members Mary Tromp and Clara Wise, who regularly attend Seal Beach City Council meetings on behalf of the club, reported that Councilwoman Sandra Massa-Lavitt spoke at the Aug. 12 meeting about the important role Leisure World plays within the city of Seal Beach.

Sandra, a Leisure World resident, represents LWers who live west of St. Andrews Drive. She ran unopposed for her second and final four-year term in the November 2018 election. LW residents east of St. Andrews will be voting for their council person in the November 2020 General Election.

Thomas Moore, their current representative, lives outside of LW in the College Park West area of the city. He is eligible to run for another four-year term on the council. No other candidates have announced to date.

The club will have a general meeting at noon on Wednesday, Sept. 18, in Clubhouse 4. Visitors are welcome. Club favorite Josh Lowenthal will be the featured

PEO card party is Aug. 28, CH 2

The PEO will host its card party and luncheon on Wednesday, Aug. 28, in Clubhouse 2 at 11:45. Lunch will be served at noon. All Leisure World residents are invited.

Men and women are invited to join the fun and play any game they want. Tables can be set up in any configuration to make it easier to play. Everyone must have a reservation, so call Jan Krehbiel, 431-8240, for information or to start a new table.

The lunch costs $12 and includes an entree, salad, roll and dessert, plus a beverage of your choice, hot tea, coffee, ice tea, and ice water.

To come for lunch only, call for a reservation. To play cards, but no lunch, there is a $3 charge, since this is a fund raiser.

PEO is a philanthropic national organization that sponsors college scholarships for women. If you have questions, concerns or changes, call Jan before Aug. 24.

speaker. Members and their supporters are urged to arrive by 11:30 a.m. with their “brown bag” lunch to participate in informal round table discussions with board members and others in attendance.

Persons interested in being table hosts should contact Clara Wise at (909) 957-9886. Training on how to be an effective table host is available.

In September, the club’s popular Voter Awareness Series will resume meetings on the fourth Monday of the month (this is a change in meeting days from Tuesday).

Voter Awareness participants will meet at 2:30 p.m. on Monday, Sept. 23, in Clubhouse 3, Room 4. They will have an opportunity to share their impressions of the Democratic Party presidential candidates, their debate performances and their proposed platforms.

The subject for discussion Monday, Oct. 21, will be a further examination of the history of the interpretation of the U.S. Constitution’s Second Amendment, as well as what the Democratic Party has to say about controlling gun violence. Information about the work of a community organization addressing this issue in Orange County will also be available.

The November meeting will center around the possible role of religion in Orange County’s public schools as a result of a recent court case in Huntington Beach.

Reservations are required for all sessions of the Voter Awareness Series. Email lwsbdemocraticclub@gmail.com or call 296-8521. In preparation for the Oct. 21 session, participants are urged to read an article in the current New Yorker that can be downloaded from the internet by googling “Politics Changed the Reading of the Second Amendment — and Can Change It Again.”

Jax Bicycles will make minor bicycle repairs in LW.

Bicycle repairs made in LW on Sept.11

Dave Hanson, president of Jax Bicycles, will be in the Clubhouse 6 parking lot on Wednesday, Sept. 11, from 1-4 p.m. to provide minor bike repair services for free. He will fit bikes to riders (adjust handlebar and seat heights) and lube and adjust bikes.

The Golden Age Foundation, in collaboration with the Golden Rain Foundation, are sponsoring the event.

Because so many residents turned out for past service days, the GAF is scheduling appointments to reduce wait times and make sure every person is seen by 4 p.m.

Appointments will be given in half-hour increments between the hours of 1-3 p.m.

Everyone who wants service must call and schedule an appointment through Sharon Kohn of the Golden Age Foundation. She will be taking appointments Monday-Friday from 9-5 p.m. Call her at 596-1969 to get on the Sept. 11 schedule.

Dave and his team will give quotes for bikes that require more extensive repairs or service, take the bikes back to his shop and return them directly to the shareholders' apartments with no transportation charge.

Jax Bicycle Center was established in 1971 and has since become the largest Trek retailer in California. With 10 locations in Long Beach, Huntington Beach, Irvine, Fullerton, Yorba Linda, Claremont, Murrieta, Laguna Niguel, San Clemente and Chino Hills; Jax's stated mission is to provide clients and community with high quality products, sales and service to meet all cycling needs.

Dave, who has owned Jax for over 20 years, and his employees share a passion for cycling and are committed to bringing a safe, enjoyable riding experience to the LW community.

Rollin Thunder's flea market raised funds for golf cart maintenance days

Rollin' Thunder Golf Cart Club hosted its first well-attended flea market fund raiser that generated more $1,100.

"Thanks to the generosity of our fellow Leisure World residents who donated so many treasures, we can now continue with the club's important community projects," said Club president Tom Davis.

One of these events, and perhaps the most expensive for the club, are the quarterly Air & Water Cart Maintenance Days. The next one will be held Saturday, Sept. 7, at the club's Pit Stop, across from the Mini-Farm on Nassau Road. Attendance is expected to top the 51 carts and motorized scooters that were serviced by 16 club volunteers in June.

"Golf cart batteries that are not routinely checked for low water levels will die prematurely and can leave you stranded," said Davis. "And tires with inadequate air pressure are prone to excessive wear and even blow-outs. This requires that the club have the proper equipment and upwards of 20 gallons of distilled water at every one of our four maintenance events."

Membership in the Rollin' Thunder Golf Cart Club is not required for LWers to have their carts and scooters serviced at Air&Water Days.

The club's next general meeting will be on Tuesday, Aug. 27, in Clubhouse 1. It will be another of the club's summertime barbecues, this one featuring chicken on the "barbie." As always, members and guests are reminded to bring their favorite side dishes, adequate for at least a dozen diners. Beverages will be provided by the club.

The Filipino Association of Leisure World held its monthly meeting to discuss the upcoming Luau-Anniversary Dinner Dance on Sept. 7 at Clubhouse 2.

President Ric Dizon reminded every member that the success of the event depends on their full support and cooperation.

Ticket sales are underway and as in year's past, organizers predict the dinner dance will be a sell-out. For ticket information, Ric Dizon, (714) 225-3597; Eileen Merritt, 486-1252; or Ren Villanueva, (323) 854-6209.

A tropical cuisine will be a highlight, with the centerpiece of the night, a whole roasted pig, known as "lechon."

Entertainment will be provided by a well-known Polynesian dance troupe.

The Los Angeles-area dance band called Midnight Motion, will play all genre of dance music.

Lay-Wilson, Pat

Pat Lay-Wilson, beloved mother and grandmother, passed away on July 27, 2019. She died of complications from a lung disease she had been battling with for the last couple of years.

Pat was born Sept. 16, 1936, in Bell, California. In her early years, she was a secretary well-versed in shorthand for many different companies, including the sheriff's department, Soule Steel and Arink Research. In her 40s, she had the opportunity to go back to college, fully funded by her employer, and get a degree in business. But Pat was never one to live a boring life, and she looked for ways to liven things up, even when working such a traditional job.

At about age 30, the elementary school her kids attended needed some entertainment for the Halloween festival. She decided to put together a Punch and Judy puppet show. She loved performing so much that she began to do birthday party puppet shows and company Christmas parties. At the age of 45, she quit her job as a secretary and began a very eventful and fulfilling career as a full-time puppeteer. She then added clowning to the mix, becoming Mother Goose. As a clown, she acted as the administrator for the World Clown Association for 10 years.

During this second career, she attended yearly clown and puppet conventions, appeared on the Tom Hadden weekend show, and was the back half of the camel in the last scene of the first Muppet movie. She also opened "Books By Mail," long before Amazon, a company that specialized in books on puppets and clowning. Through her years as an entertainer, she added tarot and card reading to her skill set and acted as a paid professional patient to rate the doctors and nurses at a hospital in Riverside.

Pat lived at Leisure World for the last 15 years. She was elected to the Golden Rain Foundation Board of Directors for Mutual 8 in 2013, filling the Mutual's vacancy. She served on the Communications, Information Technology Services and Library committees.

When she was able to, she was very active in many clubs. She especially loved the writing clubs she belonged to. She wrote many poems and stories, many of which were published.

Prior to her passing she was writing her first novel and completed most of it. In the last remnants of her spare time, she also collected paper dolls, amassing an enormous collection over the last 60 years.

Pat founded a dynasty of four generations of Southern Californians. She is survived by her three children, Pat, Chris and Tony; seven grandchildren; and one great-grandchild, with another one due in December. She is also survived by the love of her life, Egbert, her African grey parrot, who was listed on her AARP card as her current husband. She was preceded in death by her husband, Dutch, who passed away in 2005 and a granddaughter, Heather, who passed away in 1990 at the age of 2.

She lived one hell of a life and will be missed by so many.

A celebration of her life will be held on Sunday, Aug. 25, at the home of her daughter, Chris Henry. For more information, call Chris at 708-0789.

Thomas Garrett Dykman
May 22, 1934-June 19, 2019

Thomas Garrett Dykman of Seal Beach passed away on June 19, 2019, surrounded by his loving family. Tom was born in Sayre, Pennsylvania, in 1934, and spent his early years in Waverly, New York.

His golf pro dad got him started playing golf at age 4 or 5, and he continued his love of the sport most of his life.

At the age of 14, he moved with his parents to Montebello, where he lettered in golf and basketball.

After serving in the Army for two years in Puerto Rico, he graduated from UCLA in 1961. He worked for several years with US Steel, first in Berkeley, then Los Angeles. In 1967, he accepted a position with Norton Manufacturing, where he worked for 29 years as a southern California regional sales manager. He then worked as a shuttle fleet manager with Enterprise Rent-A-Car at LAX for 16 years, retiring in 2013.

He met the love of his life, Barbara, in Belmont Shore in 1964, and they married in 1968. The two settled into a new home in Lakewood in 1969, and over the next few years, welcomed three children, creating countless happy memories there for over 45 years.

In 2014 they moved to Leisure World, which Tom called "the best kept secret in Southern California."

He loved listening to big band music and watching documentaries, boxing and golf. When he could no longer play golf, he put his analytical skills to use on the pool tables. He was never bored or boring.

We will remember the unconditional love and support he gave to his family and loved ones. Tom could light up a room with a smile and a "Hey there fella!" or a "Thanks for the good service."

He genuinely cared about how everyone else was doing in life and enjoyed their stories.

His kind heart and warm laugh will be greatly missed. He is survived by Barbara, his wife of 51 years; three children, Kerry, Stacy and Paul; daughter-in-law Yin and son-in-law Ollie, and three grandchildren, Phoenix, Jessica, and Jacob.

LW POKER

Saunders wins table at Aug. 17 LW tournament

Glenda Saunders won her very first final table on Aug. 17. A club member since moving to LW eight years ago. Glenda won when her ace high club flush ended the game. Second place was Nancy Floyd, followed by Drew Sargent, Dolores Cook, Dan Galliani, and Tony Canfora.

Glenda lives in Mutual 15 with husband, Don. They are both active within the LW poker club. She worked for the city of Norwalk for 31 years as a city bus driver.

Jon Jones won the first high hand with kings full of sixes. Glenda won second high hand with jacks full of threes. Harry Sera won the featured hand, two and six, by betting when two jacks appeared on the flop and everyone at the table folded.

For private, individual or group lessons call Barry Brideau at (714)401-7622. Call President Wendy Wu for other club information at (714)366-0940.

LW Pickleball Clinic

Last Sunday, Prolite Sports conducted the first Pickleball clinic at Leisure World. Initially, Ronnie Nemcock and Kip Kennedy, Prolite sports representatives, concentrated on the new players and beginners while level 3 and higher players competed.

Ronnie and Kip answered questions, explained various rules, informed people of new rules, and explained the differences in the paddles they brought to use. Approximately 55 players participated at Sunday's clinic. Ronnie and Kip were warmly welcomed by all and invited to return for another pickleball event.

FRIDAY GOLF

Stivers wins golf league at Garden Grove golf course

The Men's Friday Golf League played on Aug. 16 at Willowick Golf Course in Garden Grove. At par 72 – this is the longest course the league plays. Long and straight driving is key on this course which, oddly, has no water hazards. Nine men and one lady competed over 18 holes in two flights. The start of the round was damp and overcast but the sun came out mid-round to complete a good day of golf. (NOTE: A bad day of golf is better than a good day of most anything else!)

Cindi Cooper joined the men this week and shot a very nice round. Once she gets her handicap, she will be a force to reckon with. Remember; ladies, friends, spouses, and family, all are welcome. All scores are net (actual score minus handicap).

Birdies were carded by Gary Stivers, and Bill McKusky. Closest to the pin on the par three-fourth hole was Sam Choi but the par 3-12th escaped a greenie this week. Fewest putts were Bill McKusky and Bob Munn.

A Flight Winners: First place: Gary Stivers, 66; 2nd: Sam Choi, 67; 3rd: John Meyer, 71; 4th: Dave LaCascia, 72; 5th: Paul Cose, 75. B Flight Winners: First Place: tie between Jim Dickerson and Bob Munn, 76; 3rd: Dennis Kotecki, 83.

Both the Monday and Friday Golf Clubs play at four local courses, starting between 7-7:30 a.m., except holidays. The courses are David L. Baker in Fountain Valley, Meadowlark in Huntington Beach, Riverview in Santa Ana and Willowick in Garden Grove. LW Men's Club membership is not required. There is a prize pool for each round that players are not obligated to enter. Prizes are awarded for low gross in each flight; two prizes for closest to the pin on par threes; and a prize for the lowest number of putts. Holes-in-One, although infrequent, are generously rewarded. If interested, contact, Bill McKusky, 430-8618, or Gary Stivers, (714) 313-3697.

LW Poetry

Simple Pleasures

Sometimes happiness is handed out in small pieces
A compliment, a smile, a cheerful hello
Can make a whole day happy.
So this is for you—my friends who come for coffee
And a pleasant chat with friends
At the Hospitality Room
A Big Thank You
For when I smile at you
I get a hundred smiles back.
Enough to last the whole day and tomorrow!
—Deane Cox

- When you start a game of Sudoku, some blocks will be pre-filled for you. You cannot change these numbers in the course of the game.
- Each column must contain all of the numbers 1 through 9 and no two numbers in the same column of a Sudoku puzzle can be the same.
- Each row must contain all of the numbers 1 through 9 and no two numbers in the same row of a Sudoku puzzle can be the same.
- Each block must contain all of the numbers 1 through 9 and no two numbers in the same block of a Sudoku puzzle can be the same.
